GENERAL

General

Stichting De Chocolonely Foundation has an ANBI-status.

http://anbi.nl/publicatieverplichting/stichting-de-chocolonely-foundation/

Activities

The activities of Stichting De Chocolonely Foundation, having its legal seat at Amsterdam, primarily consist of supporting activities that contribute to 100% slave-free chocolate.

Pillars of supporting activities:

Pillar 1 Strong cocoa communities

We want people of all ages to have the opportunity to shape their own future. We believe a decent education and the ability to make a decent living help make this possible. In this pillar, we concentrate on communities in Ghana and Ivory Coast where Tony's works in partnership with cocoa farming communities.

Pillar 2 Create awareness

We want to make everyone aware of the existence of modern slavery and child labor in the chocolate industry and other industries so they can make conscious choices. We also want to show that everyone can help make 100% slave free the norm in chocolate. In this pillar, we concentrate on fostering awareness, also taking the perspective from on-the-ground into consideration by providing a platform for creatives from West Africa.

Pillar 3 Inspire action

We want to inspire governments and companies to enact positive change in the cocoa supply chain. To end modern slavery in the cocoa industry, the key players in the industry need to reconfigure their supply chains. In this pillar, our main areas of focus are research, lobbying and giving farmers a louder voice in the supply chain.

General notes

The most important activities of the entity

The activities of Stichting De Chocolonely Foundation consist mainly of supporting activities that contribute to 100% slave-free chocolate.

General accounting principles

The accounting standards used to prepare the financial statements

The financial statements are drawn up in accordance with the provisions of Title 9, Book 2 of the Dutch Civil Code and the firm pronouncements in the Dutch Accounting Standards, as published by the Dutch Accounting Standards Board ('Raad voor de Jaarverslaggeving').

Assets and liabilities are generally valued at historical cost, production cost or at fair value at the time of acquisition. If no specific valuation principle has been stated, valuation is at historical cost.

Accounting principles

Receivables

Receivables are initially valued at the fair value of the consideration to be received. Receivables are subsequently valued at the amortised cost price. If there is no premium or discount and there are no transaction costs, the amortised cost price equals the nominal value of the accounts receivable. If payment of the receivable is postponed under an extended payment deadline, fair value is measured on the basis of the discounted value of the expected revenues. Interest gains are recognised using the effective interest method. Provisions for bad debts are deducted from the carrying amount of the receivable.

Cash and cash equivalents

Cash at banks and in hand represent cash in hand, bank balances and deposits with terms of less than twelve months. Overdrafts at banks are recognised as part of debts to lending institutions under current liabilities. Cash at banks and in hand is valued at nominal value.

Current assets

Current assets are initially valued at the fair value of the consideration to be received. Trade receivables are subsequently valued at the amortised cost price. If payment of the receivable is postponed under an extended payment deadline, fair value is measured on the basis of the discounted value of the expected revenues. Interest gains are recognised using the effective interest method. Provisions for bad debts are deducted from the carrying amount of the receivable.

Selling expenses

Selling expenses comprise costs chargeable to the year that are not directly attributable to the cost of the goods and services sold.

Other operating expenses

Costs are determined on a historical basis and are attributed to the reporting year to which they relate.
